Not run of the mill. Not lukewarm. Not mild but revolutionary is what, the author, Mr.N.N. Sharma, a member of the teaching faculty, Institute of Astrology, Bharatiya Vidya Bhawan perhaps relishes for he unlocks the mysteries of divisional charts with a shock treatment. It is sure to activate the brain cells of readers and make them think loudly. A timely initiative indeed that was due since long.

The book is scientific in nature. The reasoning is convincing. It is now for us to apply the methodology and take forward this research. It is explained scientifically for the first time as to why some twin births within one to three minutes interval have different destinies.

Divisional charts refer to the different facets of a person's life. Except for Shastiamsha, the meaning of the divisions of divisional charts have not been mentioned. The Shastiamsha was also not used much as it required a very precise and accurate record of the birth time. However, the researches carried out by a team of devoted researchers, under the guidance of our revered Guru Shri K. N. Rao, have made the divisional charts popular.

With the emphasis on raw rather than the readymade modules, the milestones in research are being achieved with a greater speed now. Tradition is an important ingredient of the craft of astrology, which is bolstered through research. Strong research is necessary for the progress of astrology. Modernising is essential to get to the correct predictions. Classics, in their original form, are not adequate. They have to be interpreted in today's context with modifications.

The importance of divisional charts: Ask our research enthusiasts to collectively brain storm and answer the question as to which is the area in astrology that is virgin and has the potential to transform astrology. The reply has to be the divisional charts. I am sure once we get to roots of this challenging area, the percentage of correct predictions would go as high as it was never ever before.

Dedication

I dedicate this book,

Reverentially, to my elder brother. Late Shri B. N. Sharma

Whose time I have utilized in writing this book.

Acknowledgement

First of all I wish to express my sincere thanks to my Guru and guide Shri K. N. Rao who has been a source of inspiration to me always. I have learned all the astrology, that I know today, from him.

I want to thank my senior colleague in Bhartiya Vidya Bhavan, Shri Deepak Bisaria, who, in spite of his multifarious activities, has spared his valuable time to edit the book with valuable suggestions.

I wish to thank another senior colleague in Bharatiya Vidya Bhavan Shri. Shivraj Sharma for proof reading the book and his brilliant suggestions.

I also wish to thank all my colleagues and friends in Bhartiya Vidya Bhavan who have given me their data along with other details of twins.

I shall be failing in my duty if I do not record my thanks to Shri Satyakam and to Rajendra Singh , both my students, who have helped me in computer systems.

PREFACE

The concept of Divisional charts is unique as each divisional chart refers to the different facets of a life of a person. While narrating the different divisional charts Maharishi Parashara did not elaborate the methodology to be adopted for reading these charts, except in the case of Shastiamsha. Therefore, these charts were not much used by astrologers who preferred the Bhava Chalit Chart to delineate. The Shastiamsha was also not used much as it required a very precise and accurate record of the birth time.

However, the researches carried out by a team of devoted researchers, under the guidance of our revered Guru Shri K. N. Rao, have made the divisional charts popular. On the basis of his researches Shri K. N. Rao has demonstrated the use of these charts in his book titled, Timing Events through Vimshottri Dasha. In the weekly research classes Shri Rao emphasizes the importance of divisional charts and reminds the research students never to forget them as they are to be used to dig out the events with more subtleties. Col. Gour, one of his distinguished student has recently published a paper and delineated a chart for Bhakti, using only the Navamsha.

The divisional charts are to be analysed in the same manner as in the birth chart. First look at the ascendant, followed by the concerned bhava and also the karaka and the then see the key planets of the birth chart in the divisional chart.

The predictive principle laid down by Maharishi Parashara have been meticulously followed in probing the destinies of twins where the birth chart is invariably the same. The concept of divisional charts have been further extended and Sookhsham charts are prepared. It was observed that ,as in Optics, Physics, a combination of lens/prisms gave a better view of the field focused, a particular divisional chart when merged with a navamsha and vice versa , focused the planets, which are the power centres, with more clarity for better understanding.

Any comments and suggestions from readers are most welcome and will help me in improving the subsequent editions.

Some Thoughts

Research: Taking astrology ahead academically seems to be a task confined to the Institute of Astrology, Bharatiya Vidya Bhawan alone. There is not so much emphasis on research anywhere. The research activities in the Institute of Astrology have increased with six sections of about 50 researchers in each. The workshop questioning attitude has become a culture of the research classes. With the emphasis on raw rather than on the readymade modules, the milestones in research are being achieved with a greater speed now. Tradition is an important ingredient of the craft of astrology, which is bolstered through research. Strong research is necessary for the progress of astrology. Modernising is essential to get to the correct predictions. Classics, in their original form, are not adequate. They have to be interpreted in the context of today with modifications.

The importance of divisional charts: Ask our research enthusiasts to collectively brain storm and answer the question as to which is the area in astrology that is virgin and has the potential to transform astrology. The reply has to be the divisional charts. I am sure once we get to roots of this challenging area, the percentage of correct predictions would go as high as it was never ever before.

Question yourself???

- 1) Why Shodasvargas are given in Brihat Parashara Hora Shastra so prominently?.
- 2) What has to be done with names of ten divisions of dashamansha, seven divisions of Saptamsha and sixty divisions of the Shastiamsha given in Brihat Parashara Hora Shastra.
- 3) Why does Navamsha Dasha give excellent results and so do other dashas based on divisional charts?

What matters in the final analysis, is the rate of successful predictions, which now stands in the vicinity of 70 percent can move to around 90 percent once we understand the hidden portion of the divisional charts. This is the importance of understanding divisional charts. Mr. N. N. Sharma has shown us the way. It will be a great service to astrology to understand his hypotheses without a bias and collectively take up this stupendous task. The concept can be best understood by the astrologers who follow the Parashari principles and have their leanings on the methodology advocated by the Shri K.N. Rao. See at least three houses, three planets and two divisional charts is the guiding principle of Shri. K. N. Rao.

Mr. N.N. Sharma has worked a hypotheses that is scientific, logical and replicable and gives inspiring results.

The Mysteries hidden in the navamsha: Many have delved into this fascinating area but there is still a lot lacking. This research will also provide a new direction to other ongoing researches.

The controversy of aspects in Divisional charts: Some astrologers take aspects in divisional charts and have their justification and some do not follow and have their justification too. Saturn does not turn right to aspect the third house from its position in the skies while orbiting and does not then get straight to aspect the seventh house and then again does not turn right to aspect the tenth house. It is the influence that has been observed since time immemorial which has created astrology. To dismiss certain fundamentals of astrology as not logical or not conforming to map of the cosmos, when there is demonstrable evidence would be a huge mistake. One should not forget that astrology is a knowledge acquired through divine insights of our great rishis. The aspects in divisional charts are there and are similar to that of the birth chart and have been observed and demonstrated perhaps due to the will of the Almighty. They have been experienced and amply demonstrated.

The sooksham charts research is bold and innovative and in line with divisions of rashis and nakshatras as given classics. These have been giving convincing results. This is sure to answer the unanswered so far to the logical and scientific readers with respect to birth of twins within one minute to three minutes intervals.

Introduction

Prarabdha or destiny is handful of sanchit karmas of a person with which he is born either to enjoy the fruits in this life or to suffer . The picking of handful of sanchit karmas is entirely a divine function and the person has absolutely no choice . The sanchit karmas are so chosen by our karamphaldata that these are in perfect equilibrium and harmony with the prevailing forces of nature as represented by stars or grahas at that time. Therefore the birth chart is a manifestation of the karmic pattern of the person. The astrologers, with the blessing of God try to read the language of the stars. At any given time, although the planetary position in the horizon is the same, but the people born during that period have different prarabdha . This is for the simple reason that each planet, under altered alignment has to deliver widely different and varied functions. The alignments get altered, with respect to the fastest moving entity, the Ascendant. Twins born of the same parents, almost at the same time are a perfect example of the wide fluctuations in prarabdha. It is not uncommon to come across the following cases of twins.

- a) One of the twins dies after birth, say within a few weeks, while the other enjoys a normal healthy life even up to pooranayu.
- b) While one is enjoying the fruits of rajyoga the other is a rolling stone in life.
- c) While one is blessed with the male children the other is having no child or only female children.

The above examples are only indicative and by no means exhaustive and can at best help in introducing the subject. The twins have, mostly the same birth chart and same navamsha in majority of the cases. Our revered Guru, the living legend of astrology, Shri K. N. Rao has stated in the Journal of Astrology

Mesha Sankranti issue, (April-June, 2005) at page 44: "When two identical horoscopes are before us, we at once see our limitations".

Maharishi Parashara has given sufficient guidelines and indications in Brihat Parashar Hora Shastra but, unfortunately, these have not been carried further and developed by sustained and organized research. For the last couple of centuries, astrology has been in the hands of traditional pandits, who were interested in astrology as related to karam kand seen by them as a source that sustained their families. No research is reported during this long period. Thus, there has been no effort to interpret the ancient Vedic dictas in modern scientific and social context. During this period the contemporary physical sciences have advanced to specialization and super-specialization levels. Astrology, which is really a super science, remained buried and got fragmented partly because of the indifferent or rather hostile attitude of the rulers. In this book an attempt has been made to interpret or even extend the original basic principles, without in anyway interfering with the basic dictates of vedic philosophy.

More than half of twin births are within a time gap of ten minutes and thus the co- borns have the same birth chart and more often the same navamsha also. It will not be wrong to say that twins may have the same prarabdha or very nearly the same prarabdha.

On careful examination of the birth charts of several twins, the following observations are worth sharing.

- a) Twins have near identical horoscopes.
- b) The planets are also quite identically placed, i.e., their longitudes are almost the same.
- c) When divisional charts are prepared, most of the planets move to the same rashi. For example, a particular planet in navamsha, is found in the same rashi in both the horoscopes.
- d) The purpose of divisional charts is to highlight the position of planets as these are the power centres in the horoscope. Highlighting of a planet also pre-supposes discarding a certain useless portion of the chart. A navamsha chart actually represents only forty degree of the original zodiac of 360 degree of the birth chart. In scientific parlance, it can be said the navamsha chart is the nine times magnification and focus around the position of planets (which are the power centers) and the remaining 320 degree of unwanted load is to be discarded in interpretation of a specific area.

- e) In most of the cases, it is observed the the ascendant in a divisional chart has got changed while the planets stick to the same rashis in one set of twins. This small observation forms the basis for differentiating between the prarabdha of twins.
- f) The Ascendant is the fastest moving entity. On an average, it moves one degree every four minutes. It means that for every difference of thirteen minutes in the birth time of twins, the navamsha ascendant will always be different. However, it does not imply, that the navamsha ascendant will be the same if the difference in the birth time is less than 13 minutes. In some extreme cases the navamsha ascendant may be different with birth time difference of even one minute.
- g) Ascendant is a reference point from where the planet's position and its karkatawas (significations) are demarcated. In other words, with the change of the ascendant, the role of different power centres (planets) get altered.

The Innovation:

A changed Ascendant has been found to answer the puzzle of interpreting birth charts of twins having different destinies. This approach of changing the Ascendant is well within the defined principles of astrology. The guiding source have been the principles and guidelines laid down by Maharishi Parashara in Brihat Parashara Hora Shastra. The magnifications of some of the divisional charts has been experimented to prepare sookhsham charts and then use them as original divisional charts for evaluating the results. As in optics, for better clarity and resonance, a combination of optical devices are employed, on the same analogy, a combination of divisional charts have been used to prepare sookhsham charts. The results obtained are convincing and replicable. If a birth chart is compared to the physical body, sthool sharira, the divisional charts are the sookhsham of the particular portion, in focus, and then the sookhsham (charts) may be taken as MRI of the power centers (planets).

Sookhsham charts shall not normally be prepared for any single chart unless the birth time is very accurate.

Understanding Medical Science

The ovaries, in the females, produce one egg every month from puberty till menopause. These eggs contain the chromosomes, which are the carriers of hereditary characters. After its discharge from the ovaries, the egg travels through the fallopian tube on way to uterus. In the fallopian tube the egg meets sperms from the male species. Sperm also contain male chromosomes. Many sperms surround the egg, but only one is able to pierce the egg wall and enter inside. The other sperms remain outside and get destroyed. Thereafter the egg and the sperm fuse together to form a zygote, and this moves to the uterus for further development. The process of division and further divisions then follow.

In certain cases, which are quite rare, during the initial process of division, two equal portion of the zygote separate out and develop as two separate babies. Since both of these are formed from the same zygote, they are very similar and even have the same physical characters

In certain cases which is still rare, during the process of initial division the zygote separates into two parts but they do not separate fully and remain attached at a very small place. The two portions develop as separate individual babies but attached together at a very small point. After the delivery these have to be surgically separated. These are Siamese twins.

In yet another, but freak case, a female generates two eggs in a particular month and both of these get fertilized by separate sperms and thereafter develop as separate babies. The physical characters in this type of twins may not be the same and might differ.

Divisional Charts

Vedic astrology deals with seven planets that physically exist and two nodes which are mathematically calculated points. All these nine are in a continuous motion on the zodiac belt around the Sun. These nine are known as navgrahas in Hindu Astrology. Being in motion always, their position keeps on changing along 360 degree elliptical zodiac. These grahas are the power centres in a horoscope, and it is , therefore, important that their position be precisely defined. The first step in dividing the zodiac, either through visual observations or through calculations, would have been the suggestion of formation of 12 equal parts of 30 degree, each, called a rashi. This division enabled the learned astrologers to tabulate the position of grahas and also the ascendant in a two dimensional format, which is the present day birth chart .

The next step, in this direction, is the division of the zodiac of 360 degree into 27 nakshatras of 13 degree and twenty minutes each or 800 minutes. To get at a more refined division each nakshatra can be further subdivided into four equal parts of 3 degree and 20 minutes (200 minutes) called charan or pada. Thus the entire zodiac is, divided into 108 padas. These padas or charans are also called navamsha. The position of a planet can be precisely defined, with the help divisions. Suppose a planet is in the 67th navamsha. Divide 67 by 4 , denominator is 16 and 3 is the remainder. Denominator indicates the number of completed nakshatra and the remainder shows the navamsha in which the planet is posited in the running nakshatra.. Thus the planet in the 67 navamsha points to the third charan of Anuradha (17th) nakshatra. Conversely, from the position of a planet the overall number of navamsha can also be worked out. Suppose a planet is in libra 15 degrees and 30 minutes. The position of the planet can be written as 6 sign, 15 degree and 30 minutes. The overall navamsha is, therefore, $6 \times 9 + 5 = 59$ navamsha

In order to define the position of a planet three types of division of the zodiac are used. These are;

- a) Rashi having a span of 30 degrees,
- b) Nakshatra having a span of 13 degrees & 20 minutes (800 minutes)
- c) A navamsha or a charan having a span of 3 degrees & 20 minutes (200 minutes).

Maharishi Parashara, the legendary Saint Astrologer, has divided the Rashis, further and prepared 16 divisional charts or vargas. This is a unique attempt to further highlight the position of power centers, the planets. The salient features of the methodology of division and their objectives can be summed up as follows.

- 1) Each rashi is divided into different but equal parts. Trimshamsha (D-30) is an exception.
- 2) Equally fragmented portions of rashi are arranged, in a uniform but in different pattern in each divisional chart.
- 3) The unwanted portion of rashi is discarded and finds no place in the new divisional chart
- 4) Each divisional chart is to be seen and analysed for predictive purpose for one specific aspect of a person's life, for example, saptamsha for progeny, navamsha for spouse and dashamansha for profession and attainments. The basis for these divisional charts is, however, not clear, as to why 1/7 portion of a rashi or 4 degree 17 minutes & 8.571 seconds. Is marked for progeny or 1/9 portion or 3 degree and 20 minutes meant for matters concerning spouse and for assessment of the strength of the planets or 1 of 10 portion or 3 degrees is indicative of career matters and professional attainments.

In the case of trimshamsha (D-30), rashis are firstly classified into odd and even rashis and the span of 30 degrees is divided into five groups of varying and but not uniform degrees. The planetary position is then fixed on the basis of a particular portion as well as odd and even classification. However a different method of trimshamsha division is followed by some

To substantiate the statement made in the serial no. 3, above, some calculation are made and the results are tabulated below as an illustration, for five out of the 16 divisional charts. Similar calculations can be made for the rest.

Careful perusal of the data given in the table 2.2, specially the shadavarga and shodasvarga (group of six and sixteen vargas respectively) show that the importance of navamsha is almost the same as that of a birth chart. Maharishi Parashara has allotted five vishwabal units to a navamsha chart and six units to the birth chart in the same group of shadvarga. Similarly, in shodasvarga the similar units allotted to navamsha are three as against 3.5 to the birth chart. The navamsha has been discussed in detail, in the next chapter.

Amongst the various varga charts, the most revealing and fascinating is the shastiamsha division. Here a rashi is divided into sixty equal parts or half a degree (30 minutes) each and arranged in a systematic but in a uniform manner. Quite surprisingly, Maharishi Parashara has allotted (table 2. 3: reproduced from BPHS) much more vishwabal units to shastiamsha varga than any other varga including the birth chart. Perhaps, the sage wants to tell us that Shastiamsha helps in delineating the results of person's prarabdha more or better than even the birth chart. In spite of very clear guidelines, the use of shastiamshas is restricted and is not commonly used for various reasons.

Maharishi has given no further details about interpreting the results from various divisional charts. But in the case of shashtiamsha he has very clearly described the characteristics of each and every shashtiamsha and given many more details (column 4, 5, & 6 of table 2.3). Subtle inferences that can be arrived at from the dispassionate study of the data in table 2.3, about shastiamsha, are as follows.

- a) All shastiamshas are named properly, column 4 of the table.
- b) It is clearly mentioned about every shastiamsha whether it benefic or malefic , column 5 of the table.
- c) The expected results from each shastiamsha are also indicated in the column 6, of the table. These results need to be modified , suitably, in the present context of society so that they are in line with the place ,time and the specific character (desh, kaal & patra)

The practitioners of modern day astrology are, however, using only a few of the charts like saptamsha, navamsha, dashamansha, dwadashamsha, trimshamsha, etc. Maharishi has not given many details, for these charts as compared to shastiamsha, and therefore there exists a wide variation in interpretation at the individual level. The shastiamsha is not used the way it was meant to be used even though the detail guidelines are well defined and laid out. This is perhaps due to the reason that the birth time of the person is not accurately available. Any difference of time upto two minutes will altogether alter the shastiamsha and lead to erroneous judgments.

India is mainly a rural country and concept of time, as regards birth time records, in most of the cases, had been quite primitive. There were no watches to record the correct time of birth. Till recently the deliveries in towns and even in cities, were by midwives (skilled female technicians) that emphasized rightly saving the life, of new born, mother, or both, rather than recording the correct time of birth. Inaccurate birth time leads to unreliable birth charts. Shastiamsha derived from such birth charts will thus go wildly off the track

Things have changed vastly since then and in urban agglomerates as also in metros, the deliveries, now, are invariably, in hospitals by qualified Doctors and assisted by trained nurses and with better medical infrastructure. The recording of birth time is thus more reliable and accurate. Thus with all round developments, and availability of more reliable birth time. the science of micro division , as propounded by Maharishi Parashar, needs to be probed further, to elucidate the subtleties of karmic pattern.

The available information on divisional charts including shastiamsha can be summed up and inferences drawn, are as follows.

- a) Only grahas (planets) are the power centres.
- b) Accurate graha position is of prime importance.
- c) Division of rasis or nakshatra can done upto any desired level but division has got to be uniform through out.
- d) Similarly, uniform system has to be followed in arranging the fractions containing the power centers.

The concept of micro-level division and identification of a benefic or malefic point in a rashi and also in nakshatra is not new and is described in our classics. The amrit ghati, vishghati and mrityu bhag are the well known examples. These are sensitive points or super sensitive points and are independently described for rashi as well as nakshatra. Both amritghati and vishghati have a range of four ghatas each, whereas mrityu bhag is only mentioned as a super sensitive point. Four ghatis of nakshatra corresponds to 53 minutes & 20 seconds of the zodiac. The following table 2.4 is taken from Uttarkalamrit and gives the amritghati, vishghati and mrityubhag for all the nakshatra. The figures given are in ghatas and refer to the beginning of the sensitive point for amritghati and vishghati.

The following table gives the beginning of the Vishghati, Amritghati and Mrityubhag of nakshatra. The first two have a duration of four ghatas. 1 Ghati = 24 minutes

Based on the above discussion, it is necessary, that the science of micro division, as propounded by Maharishi Prashaar and further developed and practiced by other sages needs a fresh look, with an open mind. In this book a beginning has been made in this direction. The relevant divisional charts are further split into micro divisions with navamsha as the central pivot and the results are revealing. For the first time similar and identical charts of twins have been delineated, with sound astrological basis to explain the difference in the prarabdha of two persons having similar birth charts.

Navamsha

In the vedic way of life number nine seems to have a divine linkage, as navagraha shanti is a pre-requisite for all auspicious occasions. Taking a clue of its divine link Maharishi Parashara proposed a navamsha with almost equal importance and status as that of the birth chart. This has already been discussed in the previous chapter. As a matter of fact navamsha and the birth chart are considered complimentary to one another, and therefore, studied together. Some of the learned astrologers, today, study the birth chart, navamsha and the relevant divisional charts together. If the birth chart is taken as the sthoor shirara then navamsha is the sookshma shareer of the same body. In the modern scientific parlance, if the birth chart is the physical body of the native, the navamsha is the x-ray plate of the same. Navamsha is considered to have subtle and latent information about the entire gamut of one's prarabdha, including the earlier births.

In a recent article on a person's inclination towards bhakti, our guru, Col. Gour, has delineated the events, using only navamsha chart. Col. Gour has beautifully summed up, as follows. "Shiva is the eternal God. He is sarvagya and sarveshaktiman, omniscient and omnipotent. He is karamadhyaksha, presides over our karmas. He is also our karamphaldata, ensuring that the results of our karmas reach us in accordance with the law of karma. Since the horoscope is an exposition of our karmic pattern, with His grace, it is possible to become privy to the designs of karamadhyaksha. For this insight into HIS will, one needs to read the navamsha where subtleties are located".

When so much of information is available in navamsha, it is desirable to have a detailed look at navamsha, and study it from every angle. To start, the basics about navamsha are as follows.

Navamsha is $1/9$ portion of a rashi and has a span of 3 degrees & 20 minutes. There are, thus, nine navamsha in a rashi and this, in turn, works out to 108 navamsha in twelve rashis around the zodiac. All these navamshas are arranged, serially from 1 to 108. The lordship of the first navamsha is of Mars as in Aries, and the second is of Venus as in Taurus. Navamsha lordship follows the same pattern as in the twelve rashis till twelfth navamsha with Jupiter lordship is reached. The thirteenth navamsha is again of Mars as in Aries and the cycle repeats after every twelfth navamsha.

Suppose a planet is in navamsha no. 65. Dividing this by 12 the remainder obtained is 5. This means that the 65th navamsha belongs to Leo and Sun is its lord. Conversely, It is written as 6 signs, 15 degree & 18 minutes. In Libra the planet is in 5 navamsha. Six signs having passed, the total navamsha works out to $6 \times 9 + 5 = 59$. Dividing this by 12, the remainder obtained is 11 and the planet in Libra moves to Aquarius with Saturn as its lord in navamsha. Mathematically, the formula can be written as,

$$\text{Navamsha} = \frac{\text{completed rashis} \times 9 + \text{running navamsha}}{12}$$

The remainder gives the navamsha position of the planet. Mathematical portion, for calculating the navamsha, is described in sufficient detail as this is proposed to be followed for all navamsha calculations, including sookhsham, in this book. The table 3.1 is given a ready reference for cross checking the navamsha position.

Scientifically, the navamsha or any other divisional chart is the selected magnification about the planet's position, in the birth chart. The magnified field reduces the focus, from original 30 degree (one rashi) of birth chart to the selected division of the respected divisional chart, which in the case of navamsha is 3 degree & 20 minutes. In other words, in the case of a divisional chart, each portion represent the selected magnification around the position of the planet, and thus the divisional chart gets reduced proportionately. For the purpose of affirmation, it is repeated, once again, that the position of a planet, remains unchanged, in terms of its original longitude.

In the table 3.2, are given the value of the focused portion of (zodiac) commonly used divisional charts. The magnification, in physics is referred to as x value and the same terminology is adopted here.

	Magnification X	Focussed Field	Planet Position
Birth Chart	Nil	30 degree (1800 minutes)	Fixed
Saptamsha	7	257.14 minutes	Remains Fixed
Navamsha	9	200 minutes	Remains Fixed
Dashamansha	10	180 minutes	Remains Fixed
Dwadashamsha	12	150 minutees	Remains Fixed

From the above, it is clear that the planet position has not changed in the divisional charts, but the focused area is reduced in proportion to the magnification and also the angle of vision has also changed. By moving to different houses, in the divisional charts, the respective significations are indicated, but in a different manner. Let us try to understand the changes, the planet has under gone to affect its significations

From our basic knowledge of astrology we know that ascendant, the fastest moving entity, in the birth chart, is entirely responsible in fixing the position of the planets in the chart. It can be said that different significations get allotted to the planets through the ascendant. If the ascendant get changed, the significations of the planets also get altered. This is true of all the charts, the birth as well as the divisional charts. In the various divisional charts, both the lagan as well as the planets, move as per the respective magnification and thus signify differently as compared to the same birth chart. Along with the magnification, in the divisional charts, the angle of viewing and observing the planet has also changed.

The study of various divisional charts, along with the data presented in table 2.2 and 2.3, leads to the following observations.

- a) Magnification of the objective field of planet bring many changes, especially, with regard to the functions of the planets from different houses.
- b) Navamsha has a unique feature, and is above all other divisional charts (except shastiamsha). It has been pointed out that navamsha reveals almost the same information as the birth chart and that is why Maharishi Prashara has allotted almost similar units of vishwabal to both the charts.
- c) Maharishi Prashara has allotted much more units of vishwabal to shastiamsha, and therefore the shastiamsha conveys more information than either the birth chart or navamsha. To add to this the learned sage has described each of the sixty shastiamsha in the divisional chart.

In the case of shastiamsha the magnification is sixty times than as compared to navamsha where it is nine times only. It therefore, follows that more the magnification, the more is the information available for delineating the results. Based on this concept, it is proposed to further increase the magnification further to prepare a new series of sookhsham charts (represented by capital S) , and this will be followed by some numerical number to tell its identity.

It has already been mentioned that the criteria for the functioning of divisional charts is not clear, from the available literature ,i.e., why saptamsha (7x magnification) signifies progeny; navamsha (9x magnification) signifies matters related to spouse; dashamsha (10x magnification) signifies professional achievements; dwadshamsha (12x magnification) for parents and so on. This is perhaps that the vedic astrology is based on Karmic theory and its laws are known to the Almighty Supreme – the Creator. Therefore, in the absence of any scientific or reasonably understandable basis for fixing the functions of various divisional charts, it appears logical to assume that Maharishi Parashara , the father of the vedic astrology, enjoined some divine blessings, when he described the divisional charts and assigned them the functions they are known to perform. In the modern context of science and in our effort to understand and extend further, the theory of magnification for better elucidation of results, we have very limited choice. We cannot indiscriminately extend the magnifications and create new charts and grope in the dark for frontiers.

Basic optics, in physics, has taught us , that the hue and clarity, of magnifications can be increased, many folds, by using different combinations of sets of optical gadgets. Applying the same principle to our field of divisional charts, a new series of sookhsham charts is created, with the basic function of the divisional chart remaining the same as laid down by Maharishi Prashara. Amongst the various divisional charts, navamsha has a special status, and the same is proposed to be maintained in the sookhsham series also. Navamsha is proposed to be linked to other divisional charts, both ways, and sookhsham prepared thereof. In the case of dashamsha, the proposed sookhsham will be, firstly a navamsha from the traditional dashamansha and then a dashamansha from the traditional navamsha, in the reverse order.

Charts in the sookhsham series are prepared and used extensively in differentiating the destinies of twins , where the original birth chart is the same and in more than 30% of cases the navamsha is also the same. Some of these cases of twins are described in this book in subsequent chapters. Some of the charts of sookhsham series are as follows.

- 1) S-9/9; A navamsha of a navamsha: Magnification 81 x. Since, this chart has only one type of division of the rashi followed by same type of arrangement for the fractions, the sookhsham can be prepared, directly from the birth chart (D-1)
- 2) S-10/9; A navamsha of dashamsha, and S-9/10, a dashamsha of a navamsha. Magnification 90 x. These sookhshams cannot be prepared directly from birth chart (D-1)
- 3) S-12/9; A navansha of a dwadashamsha, and S-9/12, a dwadashamsha of navamsha. Like dashamsha, these sookhshams can also be not prepared directly from the birth chart, (D-1).
- 4) S-7/9; A navamsha of a saptamsha, and S-9/7, a saptamsha of a navamsha. Magnification 63x. Like navamsha, the basis for preparing the two divisional charts is quite similar, therefore, the sookhshams can be prepared directly from the birth chart, (D-1).
- 5) S-3/9; A navamsha of the dreskona, and S-9/3, a dreskona of a navamsha. These sookhshams cannot be prepared directly from the birth chart (D-1).

- 6) Almost all the divisional charts can be processed for sookhsham except the trimshamsha (D-30).

It is very clear from the above that the unique status of navamsha is not only maintained but is further strengthened further as it is combined with almost all other divisional charts and a new series of sookhshams are prepared.

There are certain limitations for sookhshams. All divisional charts cannot be treated for super speciality sookhshams. Divisional charts which are created by using one uniform criteria are eligible for further subdivisions to form the sookhshams. Charts like D-30, where there is no uniform pattern of division, cannot be subjected to further divisions and sookhshams prepared thereof.

SOOKHSHAMS

In the previous chapter, it has been pointed out that the sookhshams are prepared from the divisional charts . Two divisional charts are combined to make one sookhsham. One out of the two divisional charts is always the navamsha and the second one a conventional divisional chart. We have also learnt that the span of a particular divisional chart varies , for every chart. The different divisions for the conventional charts are reproduced, for ready reference.

Saptamsha	257.14	minutes
Navamsha	200.00	minutes
Dashamsha	180.00	minutes
Dwadashamansha	150.00	minutes
Shastiamsha	30.00	minutes

Planets, which are the power center in the birth chart, remain at their same position in terms of its longitude, but are relocated, within the above span for the respective divisional chart. The first step in preparing a sookhsham chart, is to identify precisely, the position of the planet, within the above fractional span, which is running and is not yet completed. This is done by subtracting the completed fractions of the respective divisional chart, from the original position (longitude) of the planet in the birth chart (D-1). Suppose a planet is at 17 degree 32 minutes, in a particular rashi in the birth chart (D-1). Its position in the different divisional charts will be as follows.

Saptamsha

Position of the planet	17 degree 32 minutes
Less completed saptansh (four)	17 degree 08 minutes 34 sec
	0 degree 23 minutes 26 sec.

The position of the planet for casting a sookhsham of saptansha, is 23 minutes & 26 seconds, in the fifth saptansh of the same rashi.

Navamsha

Position of the planet	17 degree 32 minutes
Less completed navamsha (five)	16 degree 40 minutes
	00 degree 52 minutes

The position of planet for casting a sookhsham of navamsha, is zero degree 52 minutes, in the sixth navamsha of the same rashi.

Dashamansha

Position of the planet	17 degree 32 minutes
Less Completed dashmansh (five)	15 degree 0 minutes
	02 degree 32 minutes

The position of the planet for casting a sookhsham of dashamsha is two degree and 32 minutes, in the sixth dashamsha of the same rashi.

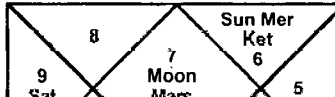

Dwadashamsha

Position of the planet	17 degree 32 minutes
Less Completed dwadashansh (seven)	17 degrees 30 minutes

The position of the planet, for casting a sookhsham. Of dwadashamsha, Is only two minutes in the 8th dwadashamsha of the same rashi.

In this way the position of all the planets and also that of lagan, for casting a sookhsham, can be worked out.

Let us take one example chart of a person born on October 12, 1931, at 0755 hours at Machlipatanam (Andhra Pradesh). The first step is to prepare the birth chart and then the required divisional charts. The next step is to identify the position of the planets in the divisional charts, as explained above. Four divisional charts, namely D-9, D-7, D-10, and D-12 are prepared and the position of the planets are indicated in the each chart. All reference, from now onwards will be to these positions of the planets.

Navamsha ka navamsha, S-9/9, is the first sookhsham chart that will be prepared. We know that a full navamsha is of 3 degree & 20 minutes or of 200 minutes. This is equally and uniformly divided into nine parts and each part works out to 22.222 minutes. In the table 4.1 are given the nine divisions of a navamsha.

For our example chart the navamsha lagna is Aries and at one degree & 48 minutes (example chart). From the above table, it is in the fifth division, and therefore, the lagna for S-9/9, goes to

Leo. Moon is in Libra, at two degree & forty six minutes. From the table 4.1, this corresponds to the eighth division. Six rashis are already completed, therefore the position of Moon in S-9/9, works out to $6 \times 9 + 8/12$. The remainder is 2, and thus the Moon goes to Taurus. Working out the complete S-9/9, will look like as follows.

6	4 Mer		Rah	Moon
7 Ket	5 Sun Ven Sat	3	Mars	S-9/9	Mer
8	2 Moon		Jup		Lag Sun Ven Sat
9	11 Mars	1 Rah			Ket
10 Jup	12

The overall magnification of S-9/9 is 81 times (81 x). This chart is basically a navamsha, prepared twice, one after another. Therefore, the chart can also be prepared, directly from birth chart (D-1), as D-81.

One rashi of 30 degree, is divided into 81 equal parts of 22.222 minutes or 22 minutes & 13.333 seconds. The sookhsham division, in the birth chart (D-1), is noted, first. Then the sookhsham is worked out, as in navamsha, as per the following formula.

Completed rashi(by planet in D-1), X 81 + Sookhsham division of the planet, divided by 12. The remainder gives the rashi where the planet will move in S-9/9.

In the example birth chart, the lagna is Libra at 21 degree 48 minutes. The lagns is at 59 division for sookhsham. Since six rashis are completed, the formula becomes $6 \times 81 + 59 = 545$. Dividing this by 12, the remainder obtained is 5, indicating that the lagna for S-9/9, of our example chart is Leo.

In the example chart, Mars is again Libra, at 24 degree & 01 minutes, and this works out to 65 division for the sookhsham chart. Therefore, it works out to $6 \times 81 + 65 = 551$. Dividing this by 12, the remainder obtained is 11 and, therefore Mars goes to Aquarius in S-9/9.

Further, Jupiter is in cancer at 24 degree & 42 minutes and this works out in 67 division for the sookhsham. Applying the formula, $3 \times 81 + 67 = 310$. Dividing this by 12, remainder obtained is 10 and thus Jupiter in S-9/9, gets debilitated.

Thus, on the similar lines, the position of every planet in D-1 can directly calculated for S-9/9.

This table 4.3 is given as a ready reckoner for preparing the S-9/9, directly from the birth chart (D-1).

Saptamsha and Sookhsham

Two sookhshams are possible from a saptamsha, S-7/9 and S-9/7. Infact both are the same. Given, (example chart D-7), is the saptamsha of our one example chart.

S-7/9, can be prepared from the saptamsha, on the similar lines. One division of saptamsha is of 4 degree 17 minutes and 8.571 seconds or 257.142 minutes. This one division of saptamsha, when divided, uniformly, into nine parts works out to 28.571 minutes. Nine divisions, so obtained, are as follows and are given in table 4.4.

The sookhsham saptamsha of the planet is noted from the

Table 4.4
Sr. No.	Minutes	Deg	Min	Sec
1	28.571	0	28	34.28

table 4.4 and treated in the same manner. Lagan in the D-7 is Pisces at 22 minutes and 17 seconds and is in the first division. Therefore the lagna of S-7/9, is $11 \times 9 + 1 = 100/12$. The remainder is 4. Lagan for S-7/9 is Cancer.

Let us take Jupiter as the second example. Jupiter is in Gemini at 3 degree 16 minutes and 17 seconds. From table 4.4, Jupiter is in seventh division. It thus moves to $2 \times 9 + 7 = 25/12$, the remainder is one and therefore Jupiter moves to Aries. In this manner the position of all the planets in the sookhsham S-7/9 can be worked out, and the chart is given herewith.

Similarly, sookhsham saptamsha S-9/7, can also be prepared from saptamsha D-7. A navamsha is of 3 degree and 20 minutes or of 200 minutes. This when divided in to seven equal parts works out to 28.57 minutes, as in the case of S-7/9, in the table 4.4. Since, in both the cases the magnification is 63 times, the sookhsham division has also to be the same. Therefore, the table 4.4 can be used for both the charts.

The total magnification of both these charts is 63 times. Since both these charts are basically, prepared on the same principle, the sookhsham can, also, be prepared directly from the birth chart, i.e., D-1, as in the case of sookhsham navamsha. The formula, gets modified, as follows.

Completed rashi $\times 63$ + running division of the planet /12. The planet moves to the rashi indicated by the remainder. Example chart (D-1) is again taken for directly casting the sookhsham.

Lagan, in D-1, is Libra, at 21 degree 48 minutes. It is in 46 division. Therefore, $6 \times 63 + 46 = 424$. Dividing by 12, remainder obtained is 4, and the lagna goes to cancer.

Moon, in D-1, is in Libra at two degree 46 minutes. It is in sixth division. Therefore $6 \times 63 + 6 = 384$. Dividing by 12, the remainder obtained is 12 and the Moon goes to Pisces.

Saturn, in D-1, is in Sagittarius at 24 degree 4 minutes. It is in 51 division. Therefore $8 \times 63 + 51 = 555$. Dividing by 12, the remainder obtained is 3 and Saturn goes to Gemini.

Jupiter, in D-1, is in cancer at 24 degree 42 minutes. It is in 52 division. Therefore $3 \times 63 + 52 = 241$. Dividing by 12 the remainder obtained is one and Jupiter goes to Aries.

Similarly, calculations for all the planets can be done to prepare a sookhsham saptamsha, directly from the birth chart, D-1.

The table 4.6 is a ready reckoner for preparing the sookhsham saptamsha, directly from D-1.

Dashmansh and Sookhshams

There are two sookhshams around dashamsha. The first is S-9/10, navamsha ka dashamsha and the second is S-10/9, dashamsha ka navamsha. The magnification in both these sookhshams is 90 times (90 x). Since the methods of preparing navamsha and dashamsha are quite different from one another, these two charts cannot be prepared, directly from birth chart, i.e., (D-1).

S-9/10: Navamsha of 3 degrees and 20 minutes (200 minutes) and is equally and uniformly divided into ten parts and each part is of 20 minutes. Ten parts thus obtained are as follows and are given in table 4.7

Table 4.7
Sookhsham part	Minutes	Deg	Min
1	20	0	20
3	60	1	00

Locate the position of the planet in the navamsha with the help of table 4.7. In whatever division the planet is located, in the navamsha, the same number of houses away, if the planet is in odd rashi, or if in the even rashi, from the ninth house. The counting is, in fact, is the same as in preparing conventional dashamsha from the birth chart.

The lagna of navamsha of our example chart is Aries at one degree 48 minutes. From the table 4.7, it is in sixth division. Aries being the odd sign, the sixth house from Aries is Virgo. Therefore, the lagna of S-9/10 is Virgo

Similarly, Mars is in Taurus at 0 degree 41 minutes. It is in the third division. Taurus is an even sign. The ninth house from Taurus is Capricorn and third from Capricorn is Pisces. Therefore Mars, in S-9/10 moves to Pisces

Similarly, the position of all the planets can be calculated. The complete chart S-9/10, is as follows.

Similarly, Dashamsha ka navamsha S-10/9, can be prepared. A dashamsha is of 3 degree (180 minutes). This, when divided by 9, sookhsham division of 20 minutes is obtained and these divisions are already tabulated earlier in table 4.7. In our example chart the lagna of D-10, is Taurus at 48 minutes. From the table 4.7, it is seen that this is in the third division. Working the navamsha, in the usual manner, $1 \times 9 + 3 = 12$, Therefore the lagna for S-10/9 goes to Pisces.

Moon is in Libra at 2 degree and 46 minutes. Referring the table 4.7, it is observed, that it is in the ninth division. Applying the formula for navamsha. $6 \times 9 + 9 = 63$. Dividing this by 12, the remainder obtained is three. So the Moon goes to Gemini in S-10/9. The position of all the planets in dashamsha can be for S-10/9. The complete chart is given here.

Dwadashamsha and Sookhsham

Two sookhshams are prepared from dwadashamsha (D-12). Since the basis for preparing D-12, and D-9 are quite different, therefore these sookhshams cannot be prepared directly from the birth chart, D-1. The two sookhshams are, Navamsha ka dwadashamsha S-9/12 and the dwadashamsha ka navamsha, S-12/9. The magnification in both these cases is $12 \times 9 = 108$ times (108 X). 3 degree and 20 minutes of a navamsha is divided into and nine equal parts the sookhsham division obtained is 16 minutes and 40 seconds. The same sookhsham division of 16 minutes and 40 seconds is obtained when 2 degree and 30 minutes of one dwadashamsha is equally and uniformly divided in to nine parts. The same is also the sookhsham division when 30 degree of one rashi is divided equally and uniformly into 108 parts. The table 4.10 gives the divisions for sookhsham from dwadashamsha

Dwadashamsha ka navamsha: Dwadashamsha of our example chart has Gemini lagna at one degree 48 minutes. Firstly, as earlier, the division of the sookhsham is noted from table 4.10. Lagan is in seventh division. Calculating the navamsha, as usual, $2 \times 9 + 7 = 25$. Dividing this by 12 the remainder obtained is one and thus lagna for S-12/9 goes to Aries.

Moon, in D-12, is in Scorpio at zero degree and 16 minutes. It is in the first division. Calculating $7 \times 9 + 1 = 64$. Dividing by 12 the remainder is four and Moon goes to Cancer in S-12/9.

Saturn is in Virgo at one degree 34 minutes in D-12. It is in sixth division. Calculating $5 \times 9 + 6 = 51$. Dividing it by 12 the remainder is three and so the Saturn goes to Gemini. The position of all other planets in S-12/9 can be worked out. S-12/9 sookhsham is given in chart S-12/9.

Navamsha ka Dwadashamsha (S-9/12)

This chart can be prepared by noting the position of the planet in navamsha and then finding its division with the help of table 4.10. The counting is in cyclic manner from the house the planet is posited in the navamsha. The lagna in the navamsha, in our example chart is Aries at one degree 48 minutes. From the table 4.10, it is observed that the lagna is found to be in seventh division from table 4.10. The seventh house from Aries is Libra and therefore the lagna of S-9/12, is Libra.

Another example may be taken for Jupiter posited in Aquarius at one degree 12 minutes. This works out in fifth division (table 4.10). The fifth house from Aquarius is Gemini and therefore Jupiter goes to Gemini in S-9/12. Similarly, the position of all the

Both of them are married and are having children. Native 'A' has two male sons and the native 'B' has two daughters. Native A is a housewife and native B is a professional..

Saptamsha of native A has Virgo lagan and Capricorn as the 5H. Sun is posited in the 5H. , which in turn is aspected by Jupiter and 5L, Saturn, which is in the 11H, Capricorn, and is aspected by two male planets, Mars and sun.. Thus, both 5H and also its L are aspected by two male planets.

and the 5L Saturn is in the 5H with Mercury. Sun and Mars are conjoined in the 11H and are aspecting the 5H and its L, Saturn. Repeated influence of male planets on both 5H and its L, gave the native two male children

In the case of native B, the saptamsha lagan is Libra and Aquarius is the 5H. The 5H has Ketu posited in it, pointing to female children only. The 5L, Saturn, is in the 10 H and has no connection with the 5H. The 5L is aspected by Mars. There is no male influence on the 5H.

Coming to the Sookhsham saptamsha, Libra is again the lagan. The 5L, Saturn, is in the 4H with Mercury. Being in the 12H from 5H, Saturn, is not conducive for the growth of the 5H. However, two male planets sun and Mars are, in turn, aspecting the 5L.

Native A has an edge over native B. In native A , both 5H & 5L are under the repeated influence of two male planets each. In the case of native B, only the 5L is under the male influence and not the 5H..This is responsible of male children to native A and female children to native B.

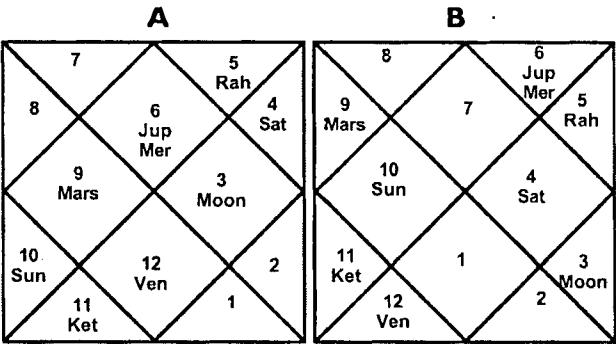

Native B is professional whereas native A is a housewife. In the case of native B, both dashamsha as well as its Sookhsham the 2L is exalted. In dashamsha it form dhanyog with the LL and in Sookhsham it forms Rajyoga with 9L, 10L, 11L and also 5Lin lagan, indicating professional prosperity. These planets in the lagan are

In the case of native A a weaker Rajyoga is formed in the 3H and without 11L, pointing no independent income of her own. As compared, a strong and powerful Rajyoga in lagan, involving both 10L and 11L make the native B an earning individual.

The native A is a post-graduate in home science and has gone abroad, after marriage with her husband and settled there. She has an elder son and a younger daughter. The native B has a degree in management and is working in India. She has two sons

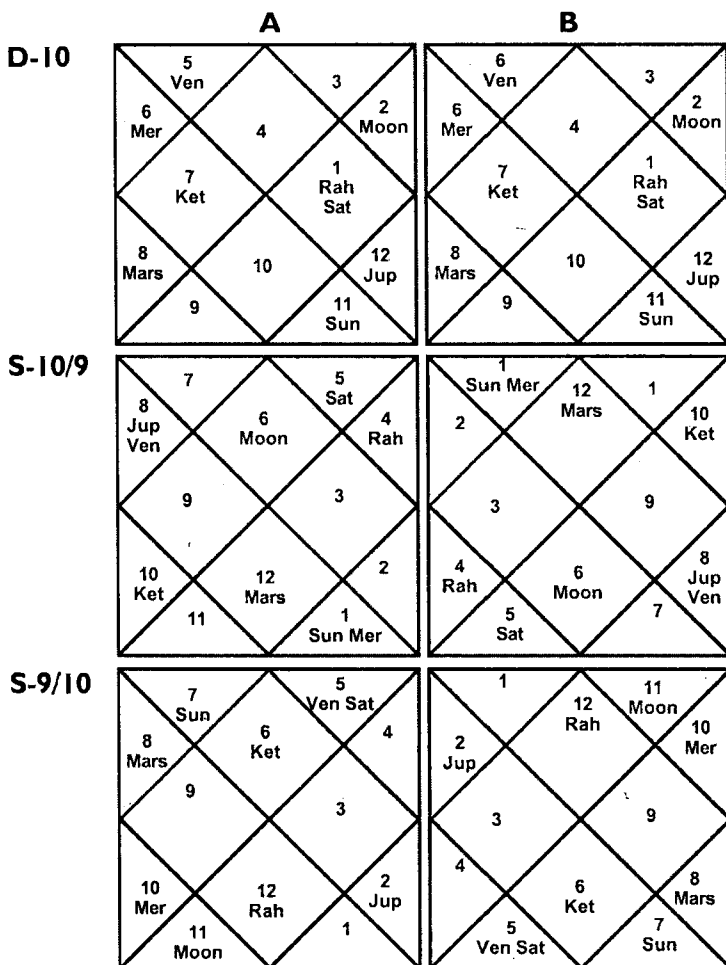

The Sooksham navamsha (S-9/9), of native A, the lagan is Capricorn and the LL, Saturn, is in the 7H, with yogkarak, the 5L & 10L Venus and also the 4L & 11L, Mars, giving rise to rajyogs. aspects the 10H and also its own 12H giving a foreign connection. Venus, Moon and 5H connection gave the native a graduation in Home Science

In the case of native B the S-9/9, has Gemini lagan. Saturn, Mars and Venus are conjoined in the 2H. The 5H is Libra and has Sun posited in it. This is aspected by Jupiter, the karak for management education and also the 10L along the 5/11 axis. The involvement of 10, 11 and 5 houses gave the native a career but there is no involvement of 12H and hence no foreign connection.

The S-10/9, of native A, the 10L & LL Mercury is conjoined with 12L sun in the 8H, giving the native a foreign connection. The 4L & 7L Jupiter and 9L & 2L Venus are aspecting the 9H and so also the 5L Saturn from the 12H, fortifying the bhagyasthan. There is no involvement of 11H/11L in the otherwise good combinations. In the case of S-9/10, Saturn the 5L is conjoined with the 9L, Venus, in the 12H. Saturn aspects the 12L Sun in the 2H and also Jupiter, the 7L in the 9H. This confirms that the native has gone abroad after marriage. Though she has the potential to earn, but she is not earning as there is no direct involvement of either 11H or 11L.

In the case of native B, in S-10/9, the 10L Jupiter is in the 9H and is conjoined with 3L Venus. 11L Saturn and 10L Jupiter, both independently aspect the 3H, showing that her profession is

Navamsha

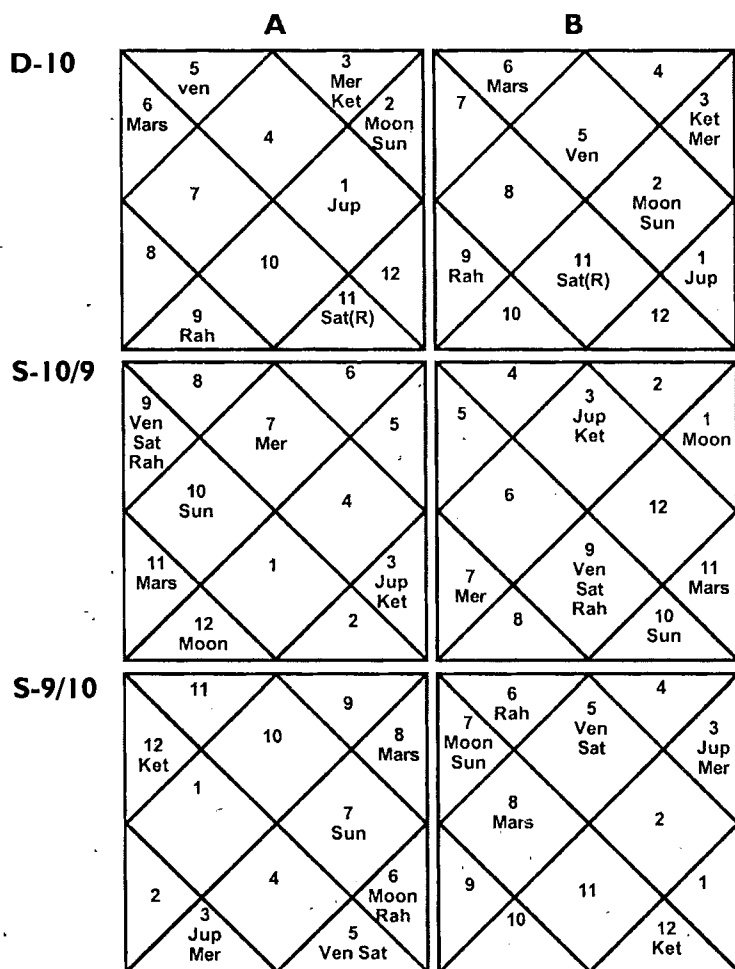

In native A, the lagan is Gemini and the 10 H is Pisces. Afflicted Moon is in the 11 H. Exalted Venus, the 5 L, is posited in the 10 H. The 9 L, Saturn, is posited in the 4 H and aspects the 10 H and also Venus. Mars, the 11 L also aspects the 10 H and this accounts for a degree in surgery. The connection between Saturn, Jupiter and Mars lords of 9, 10 and 11 houses make a perfect Rajyoga and promises comfortable steady life. Further, Mars, connects the four upachhaya houses and this indicate progressive growth in life uniformly. The exchange between the exalted Sun, the 3 L and 11 L, Mars points to the self efforts for the achievements.

In the case of native B the lagan is Cancer and 10 H is Aries.

Moon, Sun and Jupiter are posited in 10H and are in R/K axis. There is no other aspect in the 10 H. The position is not clear and nothing positively can be made out.

Sookhsham Navamsha

In native A, Aries is the lagan and LL Mars is posited in the 4 H. The 10 L Saturn is in the lagan.. Both LL and 10 L are debilitated and independently aspect the 10 H confirming the surgery as a profession for the native. The 4 L, Moon and 5 L Sun are posited in the 6 H forming a yoga and also activating the 6 H of sickness but of professional attainments for a medical graduate. Both Sun and Moon also aspect the 12 H and exalted Venus, the 2 L of income. The 12 H is a house of hospitalization, an essential requirement for a surgeon. The 12 L Jupiter is also bhagesh and aspects the 11 H of income making it an income in foreign country.

Another important feature is the connection of upachhaya houses/lords making the chart as a progressively rising one. The 10 L Saturn aspects Jupiter and Mercury. Jupiter is the 9 L, whereas Mercury is the 3 and 6 L and Saturn itself is the 10 and 11 L.

In the case of native B the lagan is Sagittarius and LL is in the 7H. The 10 H is Virgo and Sun and Moon are posited there and are in R/K axis. The exalted Venus is in the 4 H and aspects the 10 H. The 10 L Mercury is in the 7 H along with the LL, Jupiter. The

D-10, Dashamsha

Native A, the lagan is Cancer and the 10H is Aries. Jupiter, the 9L, is in the 10H. 10L Mars aspects the 10H from the 3H making the house strong. Saturn, the 7 & 8L aspects the 10H - technical combinations repeated. Mars the 10L also aspects Rahu in the 6H and Mars also connects the upachaya houses. Venus and Sun have exchanged houses. Connection between almost all technical planets and 6, 10 and 12 Houses points to very good surgical profession for the native.

In the case of native B no such combination involving 9, 10 and 11 Houses is there.

Since the position is very clear from dashamsha itself the sookhshams, though prepared, are not discussed.

Summing up, there is more steady and repeated connection between 10, 6 and 12 Houses for profession and also the 11H for steady income in the case of native A from medical surgical profession.

Contrary, the native B has always different planets connecting the 10H and under different hues of sookhshams also, points to uncertain nature of the work.

Case 12 — 24/05/1974; Delhi

These are the charts of two brothers born with a difference of ten minutes. Birth lagna of the both is the same but navamsha differs by one.

Both of them are doing business, trading primarily in consumer goods. The difference lies in the fact that native B has migrated to United States, whereas native A is settled at birth place.

Native with the chart B, navamsha has a powerful Rajyoga where 10L, Sun, and 12L Venus are conjoined in the 5H. These are aspected by exalted 11L, Mercury from the 11H. LL Mars aspects the 11H and its L as well as the 9L, Moon and also 3 & 4L, Saturn, in the 3H. In sooksham navamsha the connection between the above houses is maintained , firstly in the form of mutual aspect between Saturn and Sun on one hand and Jupiter and Mercury on the other. This is followed by an exchange amongst 11 and 12 Lords

In S- 10/9, the same connection gets repeated when 11L shifts to the 10H and 10L. migrates. to the 12H. Added to this is the exchange between 12L and 2L Coming to the second sooksham of Venus/Saturn/Ketu. The lagna is Leo and both Rahu and Sun are posited in it and are aspecting the 7H. Both Rahu and Sun are separating planets. The 7L, Saturn, is in the 6H. Saturn is also the ADL. The MDL, Venus, is in the 12H. The PDL is Ketu which is posited in the 7H itself. The above combination leads to divorce.

Thereafter, the native marries a second time when she was running the dasha of Venus/Saturn/Mars. In birth chart as well as in navamsha the 7L is Mars. In sookhsham navamsha the 7L Saturn is conjoined with Jupiter and PDL Mars aspects it. If 9H is taken for second marriage, the 7L is Mars again.

Coming to the case of progeny, the native A got a son when she was running the dasha of Venus/Saturn/Jupiter. Examining the sookhsham saptamsha S-7/9, Aries is the lagna and the 5H is Leo, and 5L posited in the 12H. LL Mars is aspecting the 5L. Jupiter, the karak for progeny is aspecting the 5H. All three male planets are influencing the 5H/L. The dasha running at that time was Venus/Saturn/Jupiter. The MDL and also the PDL are posited together and are aspecting the 5H.

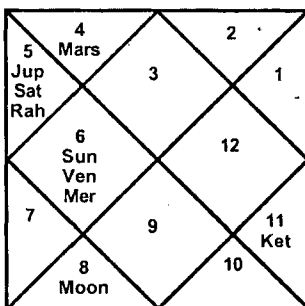

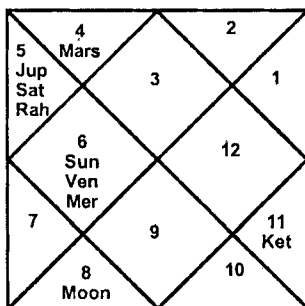

Coming to native B, she was married in the dasha of Venus/Saturn/Mercury. In the navamsha the MDL is posited in the 7H and is also the karak for marriage. The ADL is in the 8H and aspects the 7L. The PDL, Jupiter, is the 7L and posited in the 10H. The running dasha is quite capable of giving the marriage to the native. Coming to the sookhsham navamsha, the 7H is again Sagittarius and 7L which is also the PDL is conjoined with the ADL, Saturn, in the 8H.

After the marriage, when the native was running the dasha of Venus/Saturn/Ketu had one miscarriage. In the navamsha, Saturn is with Ketu in the 8H, and Saturn is aspecting the 5H. The 5/8 connection is further repeated in sookhsham navamsha, where Mars and Saturn, posited in the concerned houses, and mutually aspecting each other. Further, in saptamsha and sookhsham saptamsha., the above connection gets repeated.

Coming back to sookhsham navamsha, the 7H is in kartari yog, mostly shub. 7L, Jupiter, is one of the constituent of the kartari yog and is posited in the 8H, conjoined with Saturn. Although there may be some disturbances in the married life, but no possibility of divorce as 8H is also the house of saubhagayam, in ladies, and Jupiter is posited there.

Coming to the case of native B, in navamsha the same yog is formed along the 6/12 axis involving the 9L and 10L. Mars, the 11L, aspects the 10H and also the 11H. The 10L, Jupiter aspects the 11L Mars. All combinations for prosperity. In the sookhsham navamsha (S-9/9), the LL. Mars, the 10L, Sun and the 12L, Venus are conjoined in the 7H and are being, mutually aspected, by 11L

In dashamsha the same Rajyoga is yet again repeated and 10L Jupiter and 11L Saturn aspect each other along the 2/8 axis. This is supplemented by mutual exchange between Mars, the 9L and 3L Venus followed by the aspect of 9L, Mars, on the 10H.

In the case of S-10/9, the 10L, Mars, is in lagna and aspects the 9L, Jupiter. The LL, Moon and 7L, Venus, have exchanged the houses. Jupiter, the 9L, aspects the 10H and also Mercury, the karak for business. In S-9/10, the 9L, Jupiter and 10L, Mars, are conjoined in the 3H repeating the same yog. Marriage

Native A was married in June 1999 when she was running the dasha of Venus/Rahu/Saturn. Native B was married a little later in May 2001, during the dasha of Venus/Jupiter/Jupiter

Navamsha of native A, has all the three dasha lords posited together in lagna and are aspecting the 7H. The transiting Saturn is in Aries in June 1999 and Jupiter moved out of Pisces on 27 May, 1999. Vivah sahem is also in Pisces. Thus the dasha is conducive for marriage. In the sooksham navamsha, S-9/9, the MDL Venus is in the 11H, the ADL Rahu is in 3H and the PDL Saturn is in the 6H with 11L Moon. 7L, Jupiter is aspecting the PDL Saturn. Transiting Saturn is aspecting the 7L from Aries. Jupiter, in transit, was in

Pisces up to 27-5-1999, aspects both the lagna and LL and also the ADL Rahu in the 3H which is Scorpio. Vivah sahem is also in Scorpio and is duly blessed by the transiting Jupiter.

In the case of native B, marriage took place in May 2001 when she was running the dasha of Venus/Jupiter/Jupiter. Navamsha has Libra as the 7H. The MDL is thus the 7L itself. Jupiter, the other dasha lord, aspects both the lagna as well as the LL. The position is more clear in sookhsham navamsha where Aries is the 7H. The MDL Venus is in the 10H. The ADL Rahu is in the 2H. Vivah sahem is also with Rahu in the 2H. The PDL Saturn is in the 5H with 10L, Moon. Saturn aspects both the 7H as well as the 7L, Mars. Looking at the double transit of Saturn and Jupiter, both of these planets were in Taurus in May 2001 when marriage took place.. Transiting Saturn aspects the LL Venus and Jupiter the Vivah sahem as well as the ADL, Rahu. Therefore the marriage could take place at that time.

Profession

Native A is a housewife and therefore dashamsha is not discussed.

Dashamsha of native B has three planets in the 4H. The first is the LL Saturn. ; the second is the 12 & 3L Jupiter and third one is Mars, the 4 & 11L All of them are aspecting the 10H. Besides, the three of them are also aspecting their own houses. The 9L and the 10L are forming a Rajyoga in the 3H. Moon, the 7L is in lagna. This is a good combination for moving to a foreign land in professional pursuits.

In the sookhsham the position is more clear in S-9/10. Here, the LL Venus and 10L Moon are posited in the 2H of gains and forming a Rajyoga. The 9L is exalted in the 12H and is conjoined with Mars, the 2 & 7L The Jupiter is in the lagna blessing everyone. Professional success is well indicated after marriage.

Progeny

Native A has a son and native B none up to the time of reporting.

A child was born to native A in September 2002 when she was running the dasha of Ven/Jup/Ket. In Saptamsha the 5H is Aquarius in Rahu/Ketu axis. The 5L Sat is in the 4H with Sun and Mars - male planets. The MDL Ven is in the 3H and ADL Jup is in the 6H; the PDL Ketu is in 5H.

In S-7/9, the 5H is Pisces and Sat is posited there. Jup is 5L in 11H. MDL Ven; ADL Jup (also the 5L) are conjoined in the 11H along with Sun the 10L, and all three aspects the 5H. The PDL Ketu is in the 8H. Involvement of Jup and Sun - male planets gave the native a male child.

In the case of native B, though up to the time of reporting the native had no child but the connection of 5L and Sun with the 5H holds promise for the native.

therefore, the combination means a government service. In the case of sookhsham navamsha, the 5L, Jupiter, has gone to 10H. The 10L Sun and the 11L Mercury are posited in the 8H, forming a dhanyog around the government job with a steady income.

Dashamsha of native A, has Pisces as the 10H and Sun is posited there. The 10L, Jupiter is in the 6H. Jupiter from the 6H, and 11L, Saturn, from lagna are independently aspecting the 10H. The 11L Mars, aspecting the 11H. This all results to a steady income from government.

In S-10/9, The LL Jupiter and 5L Mars are in the 10H. The LL Jupiter aspects the 2H of income and also the Sun posited there. The 2L, Saturn, aspects the 10L Mercury in the 12H and also the 11L, Venus in the 3H. All this connection involving 10, 11, 12, lagna and 2H and also Sun indicates steady income as a result of government service.

In S-9/10, the 10L, Mercury, is in the 11H. The LL, Jupiter, and 11L, Venus, are in the 9H of Sun. These are aspected, quite independently, by 5L, Mars, and 2L, Saturn. This is also a combination for regular income from government. An interesting feature of the three dashamsha is that there is a regular involvement of 8H also, pointing to the income, which, may not necessarily be above board always.

Dashamsha of native B, gives a confused picture. The 10L, Venus and 9L, Mars, are posited together in the 6H. The LL, Sun and 12L, Moon are conjoined in the 8H. The 11L, Mercury, is in between the two in the 7H and in R/K axis. There is no connection amongst them. Only redeemable feature, is the aspect of Jupiter, the 5L, on the 10H.

In S-10/9, the 10H is Gemini and 10L is in the 3H. The 6L, Saturn is in the 9H. Saturn and Mercury mutually aspect each other. The 9L Venus and 12L Sun are both in the 6H. Similarly, Mars, the 8L and 4L, Jupiter are conjoined in the lagna. When no definite expertise, is available, such confusing situations can be seen around the 10H, the house of profession.

In S-9/10, The 10H is Sagittarius and is in R/K axis. The 10L Jupiter is with the 8L, Venus, in the 6H. 11L Saturn aspects along the 6/12 axis. The 9L Mars is aspecting the 9 as well as the 10H, from the 3H. Some financial stability is indicated.

Accident

The native B met with an serious accident on 14.1.1990 and 9/9, the MDL Saturn is the 8L posited in the 8H. With Mars, the 6L The ADL Venus is the 12L posited in the 6H. The PDL Sun is in the 2H and is aspected by both Mars and Saturn. Sun is the karak of right eye in the 2H and Venus is the karak for eyesight. When all three 6, 8, and 12 houses are involved something serious had to happen. Involvement of Venus indicates the loss of eye sight.

Children

The native A, has an elder son and a daughter. Saptamsha of native A, has Libra as the 5H and Jupiter and Ketu are posited there. The 5L Venus is in the 7H with Mercury the LL. Mars and Saturn aspect the 5L In sookhsham saptamsha S-7/9, the 5H is Pisces and Mars and Moon are posited in the 5H. Saturn aspects both Mars and Moon in the 5H. The 5L Jupiter is with Venus in the 8H. Mars from the 5H aspects both Jupiter and Venus in the 8H. Involvement of Jupiter in both the charts gave the native a male child first and then a female child.

Saptamsha of native B has Scorpio as the 5H. Neither any planet is present there nor there is any aspect on the house. The 5L Mars is in the 3H and is aspected by Saturn. In the sookhsham saptamsha, S-7/9, the 5H is Gemini and Venus is posited there. Mars is aspecting the 5H from the 2H. The 5L, Mercury is in the 6H in R/K axis and also aspected by Saturn. Almost all female connection with the 5H/L gave the native two female children.

Case 26 — 26/05/1972; Etawah

These are the charts of twins born with a difference of thirty minutes. Only the birth charts are the same. Both of them are engaged in multi million family business. Native A has two daughters and the native B has two sons.

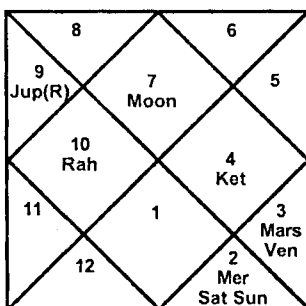

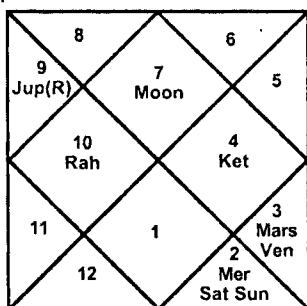

Navamsha of native A, has a Rajyoga formed between 9L, Mars, and 10L Jupiter along the 6/12 axis. The 10L is also the LL. In sookhsham navamsha, S-9/9, the same Rajyoga between 9L, Sun and 10L, Mercury, is repeated along the 3/9 axis. The LL, Jupiter and 11L Venus are posited together in the 5H and are aspecting their respective houses.

Dashamsha of native A, 9L, Jupiter and 5L Sun are posited together in lagna forming a good dhanyog. Both 9L, Jupiter and 10 & 11L, Saturn, independently aspect the 9H forming another yog. LL Mars also aspects the 10L Saturn lending support to the yoga.. In the S-10/9, the 9 & 10L Saturn is in the 8H with 4L Sun and 11L

Jupiter is aspecting them; another dhanyog is formed. Finally in S-9/10, a very powerful Rajyoga is formed by 9L Jupiter, 10 & 11L Saturn and LL Mars having conjoined in the 5H

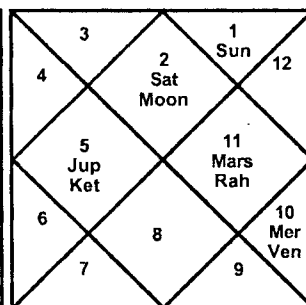

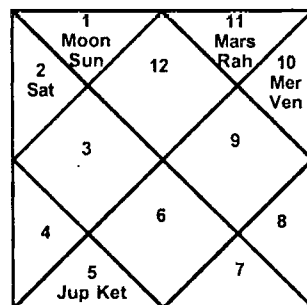

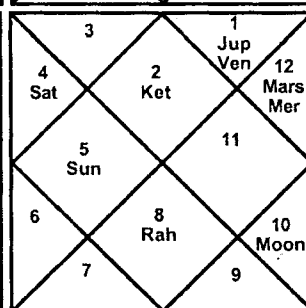

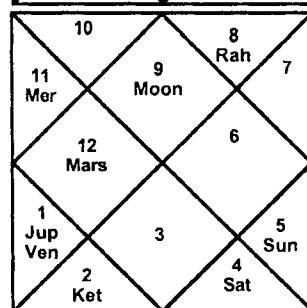

Repeated formation of rajyog/dhayog in almost all the charts make the business of native successful and productive.

Coming to the case of native B, in navamsha, the 9 & 10L, Saturn is in the lagna. 12L Mars is posited in the 10H which is in R/

The 5L, Moon, is in lagna with LL Jupiter. 5L is also aspected by the third male planet, Mars. In the sookhsham saptamsha, the 5H is Gemini and Mars is posited there. Saturn is aspecting the 5H. therefore, a case of balarisht in both the cases. The arishta gets a further boost from the fact that the Moon, of both the natives, is in visha ghati of Moola nakshatra. In spite of strong balarisht, the natives have survived because of the blessings of Jupiter on LL, Venus, as well as on lagna.

Navamsha of both the natives, although is the same but the LL, Saturn, is afflicted by Moon, but the lagna continues to be under Jupiter's protection.

Added to the above arishta, the lagna of native A is also in visha ghati of Krittika nakshatra. In S-9/9, the protection of Jupiter in the lagna, could not prevent the double attack on lagna , firstly, by lagna itself being in visha ghati and secondly by the afflicted

In order to locate the defective body part, the houses 9, 10, and 11 are invariably afflicted, in the case of native A, in dwadashamsha and drekkana charts and their associated sookshams. 9H represent the hip joint and upper part of leg (femur) and the following houses the further parts, down.

free from any such affliction.

Besides the affliction to lagna of being in visha ghati, it is afflicted by Saturn, in birth chart, by being in R/K axis in navamsha and by Sun in S-9/9. Only lagna in birth chart has the aspect of Jupiter, there is no protection in either navamsha or its sooksham. Therefore the native A could not survive beyond a few week

Note: If the lagna, at the time of birth, could reach the Virgo navamsha, though the lagna would have continued to be in visha ghati, but, perhaps, the child would have survived because of continued protection from Jupiter both in navamsha as well as its sooksham.

the problem. What is then the saving grace in native A and is not there in native B.

In the navamsha, in both the cases the lagna is Gemini and its lord Mercury is posited there, making the lagna strong. The lagna further gets strength by the aspect of Jupiter. The problem, however, is different in S-9/9, where the two lagnas are different. Native A has Scorpio lagna and Jupiter is posited there. Lagan is afflicted by the aspect of natural malefic Saturn. The LL, Mars, though in R/K axis, is associated with three benefics. Mercury is conjoined with LL, Mars, and the LL is aspected by Venus and Jupiter quite independently and separately.

In the case of native B, in S-9/9, the lagna is Sagittarius and Sun is posited there. The LL, Jupiter, is in the 12H, which is not conducive for the welfare of lagna. Further, there is no benefic influence on either lagna or LL.

Thus it is clear from the above, in native A, though Moon is continuously afflicted but there is sustained and persistent benefic influence of Jupiter, making it strong, and thereby avoiding the arishta. In the case of native B, affliction to the Moon coupled with weakness of lagna has resulted in the mental problem in the form of hallucination.

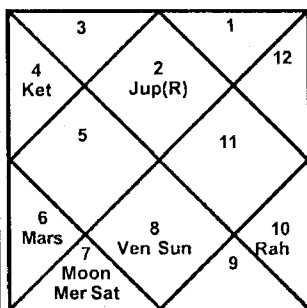

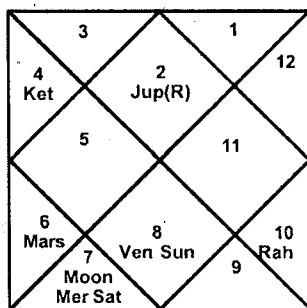

Recent researches in the medical sciences have indicated that the second child is susceptible to certain mental conditions to varying degrees.

Since birth charts and navamsha are the same we will concentrate on S-9/9. In the case of native A, the birth lagna is Taurus and is on the exact mrityu bhag degree of Rohani nakshatra. Lagan is further afflicted by three malefic. Firstly by being in R/K axis, secondly by Saturn presence in the lagna and thirdly by aspect from Mars. All this malefic influencing could not save the child.

In the case of native B, neither the lagna is in mrityu bhag nor there is so heavy affliction on the lagna.

Phalguni nakshatra. Lagna in the case of native A is firstly weak and secondly has many afflictions as compared to the lagna of native B which has much less afflictions.

Navamsha lagna of native A is on absolute rashi ghandant and is thus very weak. The fact that the lagna gets repeated in every divisional chart including their sookshams is a blatant sign of weakness rather than strength. In navamsha, as expected, the lagna is Cancer and Sun is posited in the lagna.
